DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McCormick et al (US 4,078,724).

McCormick et al disclose in fig. 7 a concrete railroad tie comprising a rail (12), an elastic rail support (16), lateral raised shoulders (10) and a support region supporting the plate 24 disposed between a base of said rail and said raised shoulders, guide plates (24, 26) including twisting prevention devices (32) disposed in said supporting region, a support area for supporting said guide plates (24, 26), said support area being essentially flat without continuous deep depressions beneath said guide plates.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-2, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Helmut et al (DE 38 20 243 A1) in view of Mohr (US 6,488,215 B2).

Art Unit: 3617

Helmut et al discloses a wooden sleeper comprising a rail (6), an elastic rail support (4), lateral raised shoulders (3a) and a support region disposed between a base of said rail and said raised shoulders, guide plates (60) disposed in said supporting region, a support area for supporting said guide plates (24, 26), said support area being essentially flat without continuous deep depressions beneath said guide plates.

Helmut et al disclose all of the features as listed above but does not disclose a two block concrete railroad tie comprising twisting prevention devices. The general concept of providing a concrete railroad tie including twisting prevention devices to a rail fixing assembly is well known in the art as illustrated by Mohr. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Helmut et al to include the use of a two block concrete railroad tie comprising twisting prevention devices in his advantageous railroad tie assembly as taught by Mohr in order to facilitate pre-alignment of the railroad ties.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 05/18/2005 have been fully considered but they are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Thim, Oberweiler et al are cited to show related rail comprising guide plates with twisting prevention devices.

Art Unit: 3617
